

Haley Brickner is the director of Education for the Grand Portage Band of Lake Superior Chippewa, where she works to promote the educational achievement of K–20 students by developing and maintaining educational programming; working collaboratively with various stakeholders to assess and address student needs; and providing support, advocacy, and resources to American Indian families and students. Brickner holds a bachelor’s degree in business administration and a master’s degree in education. She also is active in the Indian Education community, currently serving on the Board of Directors for Oshki Ogimaag Community School (chair), the Native Youth Alliance of Minnesota (secretary), and the Minnesota Indian Education Association.